From The Editor:

This issue is still late, but I'm getting closer...sorta...

I want to thank Lou Galper, Terry Cowan and Howard Stark for the photos of the Christmas Party. I was late showing up. I appreciate your help...

I really enjoy Sandy Watt's articles. I was fortunate to be able to visit England and Wales, several years ago for about a month. It was my first time there and I hope to go back. I was sick several days while there and missed Portsmouth and the HMS Victory and the Mary Rose as well as the British Museum and the Tower (gasp) in London. I must go back...

Americans, and Europeans when they come to America, for that matter, can be mystified that other countries aren't sensible and live like "we do at home". I'll never forget Mark Seymour, our tour director, and Garath Lynn Jones, a sheep rancher in Wales "who bought 3,000 acres" overlooking the Irish Sea and misty Ireland, "that no one else wanted". I love the guy and his family and wished we were neighbors... As Sandy intimated, travel teaches us to understand and accept other cultures on their terms as well as understanding how and why our own evolved. Not a bad thing for anyone to realize...

I enjoyed Casa Machado for our Christmas party. The fare was tasty. There was plenty of room. And it seems easier to navigate. Three cheers for Lynne Stark, Santa (Ed Matheus) Claus, Udo (one of his elves) and everyone who made the day possible....

Happy New Year...Warren

On The Cover: Santa (Ed Matheus) Claus visits our Christmas party at Casa Machado...

Visit our web site at <http://www.sdhealey.org>

What a great party! It was wonderful to see everyone at Casa Machada. The buffet and service were very good. I really enjoyed helping Ed Mathews. He was a fantastic Santa making the gift exchange even more fun! Many thanks to Ed for all his effort and wardrobe changes. I would like to thank so many of you for coming, participating and bringing wonderful desserts to share. There were quite an array of desserts that were quickly eaten. Special thanks to those who were so generous bringing items donated for the silent auction. Poinsettias were also raffled and everyone was in good spirits. Huge thanks to Lynne for coordinating, planning, making arrangements, checking everyone in and seeing to our needs at the party. There will be party photos published in this newsletter. Please forgive us if some photos were edited out, since we like to capture everyone in a good light.

The COTY award was presented to Lynne and I by Lou Galper. Thanks Lou. We will look forward to seeing everyone next year at our activities and driving events. It's always great being out and about driving our Healey especially in cooler weather. Either in a Healey or other car, please join us. The more the merrier.

During our holiday party, Richard and Ada Stevens invited us all to their annual Holiday Party at their daughter's Equestrian Center and ranch in Bonita. The roasted pig, beans and other foods were fantastic as well as the hot cocoa and great desserts. The ranch is a working equestrian center approx 9 acres. Many of our members attended, There were barns with horses to pet and feed treats to, hay rides and a small country village. The Stevens and their daughter were wonderful hosts and it was a special evening. I look forward to attending again next year. Thank you Richard and Ada for inviting us and please thank your daughter for having us at her ranch. Photos may be included in this newsletter.

I would like to thank all of our board members for their efforts. Each year there is opportunity for members to take on a more active roll and bring new ideas and support to your club, while serving in a board position. Please volunteer and offer up your support. All of us make our club great. With that, I would like to welcome and thank Kathleen Reid in her new role as Club Secretary. Thank you in advance Kathleen for filling this important position.

See you at our next meeting at Kings Fish House in Mission Valley Wednesday, January 12th, 2022 @ 6:30PM. Address is 825 Camino De La Reina. S.D.92108

Santa Arrives on Rudolf

Healey Holiday Party- December 4, 2021

By Lou Galper

After spending most of the year isolating from everyone, the Holiday party got organized and planned on short notice. Lynne Stark got Café Machado set up for the party, which turned into a great time for all the attendees. About 45 Healey people showed up for a great Mexican buffet on the outdoor patio. We got to reunite with old friends and make some new ones.

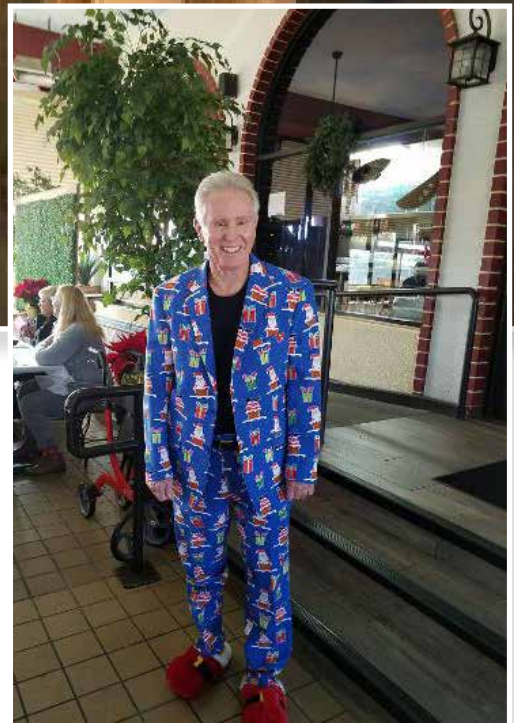

We had a raffle of car stuff and a fabulous gift exchange with some wonderful goodies. The potluck-dessert table turned out to be a high point, with a huge variety of home-made and store bought sweets. Thanks to Lynne for calling everyone (virtually every single member) and making the party a big success!

Mis-Information About Old Cars

by Sandy Watt

Over the past few years, I have found myself in situations which have almost resulted in a whiplash or in almost choking on what I was either drinking or eating. These have not been as a result of driving, but from being around crowds of people and overhearing various conversations. These have all been auto related and I am still in denial as to what I heard.

Two of these incidences occurred when I was invited to judge at the Pebble Beach Concourse. On the Saturday of the Concourse I was looking at several Edwardian cars, most of which were brightly painted in their original colours. All the people present were what I would call “car people” and were quite knowledgeable about the cars that they were looking at. Suddenly I heard something that resulted in me swallowing my drink the wrong way, getting into a coughing spasm that almost brought me to my knees, and barely missing the other people with a spray of soda. What I had overheard that cause such an reaction was a man talking to several teenagers, and telling that all these cars were painted in the wrong colour, as all early cars were either black or a shade of grey. This was such a revelation to me that I almost choked. It took me a couple of minutes to regain my composure, and then proceeded to rectify the situation by explaining that the cars were the correct colours. I explained that the confusion results from the fact that there were no period colour photographs, and all the photographs that were taken when the cars were new were black and white, showing the cars as either black or a shade of grey.

The other incident of the weekend was on the Sunday out on the show field where I was looking at a beautifully restored 1932 S.S.1 Fixed Head Coupe. The SS company has a colourful history, starting life in 1921, in Blackpool England, as the Swallow Coachbuilding Company Ltd, changing its name early on to the Swallow Sidecar and Coach Building Company. In 1926, William Lyons, the company founder started to make bodies for Austin Sevens, with the resulting cars being called Austin Swallow. He then proceeded to fit bodies to other British cars including Standard, Swift and Morris. In 1928 the company had outgrown its facilities and moved to Coventry, and the company name was changed to SS Cars Limited. At this time Lyons decided to produce his own car based on a low slung version of the Standard Sixteen chassis, and the new cars were known initially as S.S.1 and then S.S.2. 1939 brought the Second World War and the stopping of all car production. In 1945 production was resumed but the name of the car S.S. was deemed to be insensitive in the light of world events and a new name was selected for the car - JAGUAR. With this history in mind I will bring you back to Pebble Beach. Here I heard a proper English accent behind me and I took no notice of it until he announced quite loudly to his companions.”This is one of Hitler’s cars from the war. You can tell as it’s called an SS after his Storm Troopers”. Needless to say my head spun around so fast that I almost gave myself a whiplash. Luckily before I could regain my composure the owner replied that he was wrong as this was an early Jaguar, and the “English accent” sheepishly left the scene.

These experiences show me that we need to remember that there is a lot of MIS-INFORMATION out there, and we must be prepared to hear it at the most inopportune times, and not injure ourselves as a result of what other say. Other than these two experiences I had a DAMN good time at Pebble, and really hope I’m invited back. ■
